'Weapons of Light'

Behold, I have given you the power "to tread upon serpents" and scorpions and upon the full force of the enemy and nothing will harm you. Luke 10:19

What is this power the Lord gives us to combat the enemy and to establish his kingdom? Often we feel that the problems of our world are so evil, so overwhelming, we can't do a thing about them. Even the problems of a single day in our own small realm of influence can seem too much to bear.

Jesus gives us "weapons of light" to choose the good, to work for justice, to treat each person with dignity. He further equips us with the grace to love, to express gratitude, to smile. Serpents and scorpions don't stand a chance against these powerful weapons of light! Use them today to see what a friendly bit of concern, a good word when others are negative or a prayer offered for someone's suffering can do to change the world. May St. Francis of Assisi mentor you today in using this divine power.

Lord, shine your powerful light through me into my day!

Twenty-Seventh Sunday in Ordinary Time

Words into Action

Therefore, I say to you, the kingdom of God will be taken away from you and given to a people that will produce its fruit. Matthew 21:43

Jesus uses some rather violent images in this parable to make a fundamental point about Christianity. He tells us that if you expect to be a "tenant" in the kingdom of God, you are going to have to work at it and bear fruit.

This parable underlines the importance of our responsibilities to participate in God's kingdom here on earth. We are called to love God and our neighbor. We are to become models of Jesus' love and mercy. We need to seek his forgiveness and offer it to those who have harmed us. Jesus' message is not simply words on a page. Passive acceptance of his teaching is not enough. Jesus isn't just asking us to do this; he is telling us that this is what it takes to enter the kingdom. We need to hear his words and turn them into action.
