LIFE OF FAITH—PART 3

The Faith of Bartimeus

St. Mark tells us of the cure of another blind man. “As he was leaving Jericho with his disciples and a great multitude, Bartimeus, a blind beggar, the son of Timeus, was sitting by the roadside” (Mk 10:46). When he heard the noise of the crowd the blind man asked, “What is happening?” and the crowd answered, “It is Jesus of Nazareth.” And then the blind man, his soul on fire with his belief in Christ, cried out: “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!” (Mk 10:47).

Doesn't this event make you want to cry out too, when you also have stopped by the side of the road, of that roadway of life that is so short; you who are so dim-sighted, you who require more grace before deciding on a life of holiness? Aren't you also inclined to cry out: “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me”? What a beautiful aspiration, a prayer to repeat again and again!

I recommend that you meditate slowly on the moments preceding this miracle, so as to keep this fundamental idea clearly engraved on your minds. There is a world of difference between our poor hearts and the compassionate heart of Jesus! It will always be there to sustain you, especially in the hour of trial and temptation and also when he asks you to make a generous response, in little things as well as on great occasions.

“And many rebuked him, telling him to be silent” (Mk 10-48)—just as people have done to you when you have sensed the presence of Jesus on your path. Your heart beats faster, and you began to cry out from your troubled soul. But friends, customs, convenience, conventions, all advised: “Be silent, do not speak. Why must you cry out to Jesus? Leave him in peace!”

But poor Bartimeus would not listen to them and still cried out more: “Son of David, have mercy on me.” Our Lord, who had heard him from the beginning, let him repeat his prayer. The same with us. Jesus, hearing the first cry from our soul, still waits. He wants us to be convinced that we need him. He wants us to beg him, to persist as the blind man did by the road from Jericho. In Homiliae in Matthaeum, 66, 1, we read: “Let us make him our example. Even if God does not immediately give us what we ask, even if lots of people try to put us off from our prayers, let us still go on praying.”

QUOTE OF THE WEEK!

"Mary, who is the Virgin Most Pure, is also the Refuge of Sinners. She knows what sin is, not by the experience of its fall, not by tasting its bitter regrets, but by seeing what it did to her Divine Son."
